

Stations like KLOV are a help to me and my family. Positive entertainment is hard to find. Pop musicians who's songs advocate violence and immorality are rampant through out the airways. There are too few stations that encourage good social values. I highly discourage any move that will further limit this form of broadcast. I recommend having a local news and information segment input into the "national" format; like Good Morning America's weather in your area.